

The Queen

One day Jack was at school on the  . He was about to play with a ball.

“You there. You there. Will you look at me? Thank you. I am a queen, and just who are you?” asked Queen Jill. She was a real queen and a real  . Jack could see her look up at him.

“I am Jack, and I go to this school,” said Jack. He was seven.

“Well, I want to go to school,” said Queen Jill. “Can you help me?”

“Yes, I can help you. You can go to school with me,” said Jack. “Just jump up onto this ball, and we will go into my school.

“That is what I will do,” said Queen Jill. She jumped up onto the ball. Jack and Queen Jill went into the school. Some of the day she and the school kids did math. Some of the day she had the school kids read to her. Soon they were all friends. At the end of the school day, Queen Jill went back to the  . She had a fun day.
